Drew was born and raised in northwest Iowa. He studied business administration and political science at Northwestern College in his hometown of Orange City. He went on to earn his law degree from the University of Iowa College of Law, where he graduated second in his class.

In law school, Drew served as an editor of the Iowa Law Review. His student note was published in Volume 106 of the Law Review, and, upon graduation, he received the Arthur Bonfield Award for aptitude in creative legal scholarship.

Before joining Woods Fuller, Drew clerked for the Honorable Steven M. Colloton of the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit.

Outside of the office, Drew enjoys spending time with his wife, Dana, and their extended families, going on long walks with his dog, reading, and spending the occasional fall Saturday inside Kinnick Stadium.
